

Our Hope Melons
Aren't Quite So Big —But Pretty Nearly

I am sending you a clipping of a recent publication in one of our local papers hoping it might be of interest to you. There could be a small error in the size of our melons, but we can not let a fair city be underrated, so I you will forgive me making a statement should it turn out to be.

The foregoing is from Sfc. George Perry, Hope boy stationed with the 1st Car Co., Fort Amador, Canal Zone, writing as of May 30 from Panama City. I turned to his clipping. What was published in the Canal Zone read like this:

"Night sentries at the Fort Amador Motor Pool have a new Special Order: Guard Watermelons."

"The order isn't official, of course, but guards don't mind doing it, since everyone around the motor pool has a deep interest in the welfare of 'the patch' being cultivated by Sfc. George Perry and Otis Johnston."

"Sfc. Perry hails from Hope, Ark., which he claims is the watermelon center of the world. Very proudly he boasted that the largest watermelon ever grown came out of Hope, back in 1939, when the melons of that city sent the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt his proudest possession — a 225-pound specimen grown in the city's 'melon patch.'"

"So says the newspaper item, and, having been duly quoted in far Panama, Sfc. Perry now refers his clippings to the home town editor."

"As a matter of fact Perry isn't off the mark. He has the wrong year, the wrong man, and the wrong weight. But the year isn't important, because every year a big melon is sent to some dignitary. Nor is the personality important, for on a couple of occasions Hope has sent the best of the season's melon crop to the President. The weight is really Sfc. Perry's only mistake—and he didn't miss it so far."

"Actually, the world champion watermelon was raised in 1935 by O. D. Middlebrooks on his 'magic acre' near Palms, 12 miles south of Hope. The melon's weight was certified at 195 pounds. And it was bought by local citizens and presented in Hollywood to Dick Powell, native Arkansas movie actor."

Steel Talks Are Renewed, Strike Curbs Studied

Washington, June 5 (AP)—The White House renewed steel peace talks today with the industry for a fourth day and Congress studying new strike curbs.

A half dozen top industry leaders and Phillip Murray head of the CIO and the striking Steelworkers Union, were summoned to White House negotiations with John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman.

Government stabilization officials said they knew of no fresh plan Steelman might have for settling the six-month-old steel dispute. The amount of a steel price increase, as well as of a wage increase, is at issue.

Nearly 750,000 workers were idled by the strike. These included the 650,000 steel workers, along with almost 100,000 others furloughed in coal mines, railroads, shipping and docks serving steel mills.

Hope Man Hurt in Auto - Truck Accident on '29

A Hope man was seriously injured early last night when an auto and a butane gas truck collided about 5 1/2 miles south on Highway 29.

An auto driven by John Bartlett of Hope was traveling south and collided with the truck, going north, and driven by James Harris of Shreveport. The impact sent the car careening 300 feet before it turned around and headed in the opposite direction, according to investigating State Officer Travis Ward.

The truck spilled the butane which it was carrying but the driver was unhurt. Bartlett suffered a broken leg and possible internal injuries.

Russians Tighten Berlin Ring

Berlin, June 5 (AP)—The East-West tug of war in Red-ringed Berlin continued unabated today after a night of frontier kidnappings and shootings.

The Russians slapped back their ban on American patrols operating on the superhighway from Berlin to West Germany and the Communist press threatened a further tightening of the Red squeeze on the city.

The Red papers spoke ominously of "direct blows."

West Berlin police increased protective measures along the perilous frontier areas bordering the surrounding Russian zone after two women were grabbed last night by Russian soldiers and German Communist police.

The Westerners doubled to 300 the number of alarm boxes scattered along the perimeter for use in quickly summoning police.

In the British sector, British troops and German police continued their "anybody out but nobody in" siege of Russian-operated Radio Berlin into the third day.

The radio, staffed by German Communists and guarded by 20 Red army tommy-gunners, stayed on the air, broadcasting its customary anti-Western diatribes.

Red army guards turned back patrols at both ends of the Berlin superhighway, one of the city's principal lifelines to the west.

Other traffic was normal, however.

The Russians had let an American military police jeep slip through to the highway yesterday for the first time in 10 days. Apparently it was just a mistake.

Trigger-happy Russian soldiers in the divided city resorted to gunplay at least twice yesterday.

A U. S. military policeman, Pvt. Wilfred R. Chenevert of North Grafton, Mass., was seized on the left leg by a bullet fired by an East German border guard as the American turned his jeep around near the frontier.

Russian soldiers also fired warning shots into the air to drive a patrol of West Berlin police from a disputed cemetery on the French sector border.

Dog Shows Are Not Restricted Any More to Millionaires, the Neighborhood Mutt Can Win

New York, June 5 (AP)—How much real democracy is there among dog lovers?

Quite a bit, according to Bartender Bill O'Brien, who forked over $50 to a customer for a puppy that looked like a 4-legged gray mouse and has turned out to be a blue ribbon show dog.

I have written about Bill before. He's a big, ex-Army sergeant who blew the alarm bugle at Pearl Harbor.

O'Brien is night maestro at Moriarty's midtown bar and grill, an establishment two doors from Toot Shor's that has become a rendezvous for newspapermen, dancers, singers, actors and musicians.

One of his customers was Pat Hanrahan, an NBC electrician who often brought in one or two of the Schnauzer dogs he raises as a sideline.

"I just got dog hungry looking at them," confessed Bill. He finally bought a male pup from Pat for $50 and figured it was a real bargain as Schnauzers, a long-haired German terrier, are growing in popularity in America and easily bring $75 and $125.

The 8-week old ugly puppy looked like a handful of dirty strings with bright eyes. Bill named him Mike Murphy.

"He grew so fast he was getting bow-legged and down in the hocks, so I began stuffing him with calcium pills," said Bill.

"But he had lots of spirit — he was no deadhead."

Mike Murphy perked up so fast, showed such carriage, that dog-wise customers at the bar urged Bill to enter him in a dog show. At first O'Brien held off, thinking that such honors were for the pets of millionaires rather than bartender.

But he finally decided Mike Murphy ought to have his chance in the world. He paid a professional handler a small sum to give him a week's training. Mike was entered in the Westminster Kennel Club show in Madison Square Garden last February, which is the world series of dogdom.

Mike Murphy, only 8-months' old and still really a puppy, strutted out to win the first prize for American-bred standard Schnauzers.

Overwhelmed by his victory, Bill entered Mike soon after in another top-flight metropolitan canine show. But Mike, still growing fast, had become underweight for his size. He placed fourth.

That has put Bill in a spot. He figures he let his dog down by entering him too soon in his second show. But he doesn't want to turn Mike over to trainers who see him as a potential best-of-breed champion.

"I'd like to see him win another blue ribbon," Bill said, "just to make it up to him — to see he gets a square deal."

"But the handlers say they want a month to train him for his next show. Well, Schnauzers are supposed to be one-man dogs, but Mike is friendly to everybody."

"If he is gone a month, he will no longer be my dog. It would be like giving up your own baby."

Meanwhile, Congressman Boyd Tackett, first candidate to announce, first to file and first to take to the stump, invaded Lawrence and Independence counties yesterday with his talk town tour.

Tackett, who lives at Nashville, spoke briefly in Strawberry, New Ark, Black Rock and Umboden. He devoted his short speeches to discussing his record, and did not

Real Political Issue Is Peace, Security in the World, Ike Says

Democrats in Power Too Long Says Ike

By BELMAN MORIN
Abilene, Kan., June 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, contending that the Democratic administration must be unseated, prepared today to spell out the details of the program he is advocating as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency.

"One party has been in power too long," Eisenhower said yesterday.

The statement was contained in a major speech, on national issues, his first since he stepped out of uniform. In launching into the personal phase of his campaign, Eisenhower made four main points:

1. A call for cooperation between the "economic elements of our country."
2. The necessity of battling inflation, bringing the national budget "under control," and taking "the first step back to a sound dollar."
3. Taxation. "It becomes doubly necessary to see that waste, duplication and extravagance are eliminated."
4. The charge that there has been a "gradual absorption by the central government of functions that belong to local communities and to individuals."

Eisenhower also urged continued cooperation with our Allies in the fight against communism and called for a foreign policy stripped of all "mystery."

Of communism, he said:

"It has been a global threat, manifesting itself from the Far East to Europe in outward extensions throughout the vast periphery of the Soviet domain. Early in its course, China was lost to the free world in one of the greatest international disasters of our time — a type of tragedy that must not be repeated."

The speech, broadcast and televised nationally, was delivered on the opening day of a riotous homecoming celebration for Eisenhower. The little town where he grew up met him, en masse, near the site of his boyhood home yesterday. The day's program included a parade of floats illustrating his life. A crowd estimated at some 25,000 persons, flocked into Abilene for the celebration.

Eisenhower wore a grey business suit, with a blue shirt and a darker blue tie. His wife, some of his brothers, and a number of the

Tells Newsmen to Extend War in Korea Foolish

By JACK BELL
Abilene, Kan., June 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, seeking his personal drive for the Republican presidential nomination, told the newsmen today that the top political issue is "peace and security in the world."

The smiling 6-star general, attired in a gray suit, told a crowded news conference in a movie theater that when it puts his hand to the plow—as he is to seek to GOP nomination—he works as hard as he can.

In rapid fire order, he recoiled at answers to many of the tough political questions of the day. He thus accepted the challenge of his political opponents who had criticized his previous silence while in uniform.

Among other things, Eisenhower said on foreign policy:

1. The country must be helped out from under the present "umbrella of fear and doubt and hysteria."
2. He has no political connections with the Democratic administration and is free to criticize its foreign policies but if we let Europe fall we will have "backbreaking responsibilities" and be in "national danger."
3. It would be "very dangerous" to attempt to extend the Korean War at this moment, until we have had a bigger buildup of our own forces.
4. The Truman administration must share in the responsibility of the "international disaster of the first magnitude" in the fall of China to the Communists.
5. He said he would not say out as frankly as he would if Eisenhower had these things to say about domestic issues:

Writ Filed to Save Maxwell From the Chair

Little Rock, June 5 (AP)—Hermon Maxwell, convicted Negro rapist who was saved three times from the death chair by appeals to the Arkansas Supreme Court, is scheduled to be executed at sunrise tomorrow at Tucker Prison Farm.

Maxwell was convicted of raping an expectant mother at a farm home near Hope July 20, 1949.

The court reversed Maxwell's first conviction on grounds the defense was not given sufficient time to prepare a defense. The second conviction was reversed by the high court, ruling that no Negro was on the jury.

The court granted Maxwell a stay of execution the day before he was to go to the chair on June 15, 1951. The Supreme court refused to hear Maxwell's latest appeal last April 21. Execution was set for June 8.

Gov. McMath has indicated he will not intervene.

But shortly before noon today, Harold Flowers, Pine Bluff attorney for Maxwell, filed a petition for writ of habeas corpus with the clerk of the Federal Court in a late minute effort to stay his execution.

Federal Judges Trimble and Harry I. Lindley were both out of town at the time and efforts were underway to contact one of them.

Johnny Rebs in Final Meet, Two Attend

Jackson, Miss., June 5 (UP)—Two frail old "generals" watched the "purty gals" from wheel chairs today amid rebellious whoopla of a final reunion of the dwindling, officially disbanded, Confederate army.

Gen. William (Josh) Bush, 106, of Fitzgerald, Ga., and Gen. William D. Townsend, 107, of Olla La, seemed not to mind having the veterans organization of a once-powerful army dissolved by its sponsors.

"We'll have a gay old time," said Bush, rakish cigar smoker who still dances a jib and styles himself a "wolf in Confederate gray." Townsend confines himself to occasionally remitting a feeble whoopee.

Except during the grand ball in their honor, they wanted to sit all day in the lobby of the Robert E. Lee hotel and "look at the purty Mississippi gals."

The action disbanding the seven survivors of General Lee's army was voted yesterday by the 57th annual convention of the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

"The past is past, long live the memories," said William Beard, SCV commander from Westfield, N. H. He pointed out the feeble survivors are "living in shadows" and no longer able to carry on an organization.

Negotiators Again Hurl Charges

By GEORGE A. MACARTHUR
Munsan, Korea, June 5 (AP)—U. N. truce negotiators today accused the Communists of insisting that thousands of Allied-held war prisoners be chained or handcuffed and shipped back to the Reds like cattle.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison told the Communists their demand for forced repatriation of all Allied-held prisoners "falls on deaf ears. The U. N. will not forcibly and violently drive to your side anyone who resists returning to you."

He reiterated that the U. N. screening program showed "incontrovertibly" that 100,000 prisoners would rather die than return to Communism.

The chief U. N. negotiator's address came after North Korean Gen. Nam Il charged that recent outbreaks of violence on Kije Island have proved the Allied principle of voluntary repatriation "utterly bankrupt."

Nam declared the U. N. plan violates the Geneva Convention and added:

"Our proposal which assures that all prisoners will return home and lead a peaceful life is in complete accord with the Geneva Convention."

50 Club Boys Attend Meet on Forestry

Fifty four 4-H Club boys and leaders attended the cook-out forestry demonstrations at the University of Arkansas Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station yesterday.

Emphasizing the control of fire the greatest enemy of growing timber, Forester Buster Denton of the Arkansas Reclamation and Development Commission, led the boys in a mock fire drill. The demonstration was conducted in the improved farm forestry demonstration timber stand on the station where no fire has burned for more than 15 years.

Harold A. Howell, Extension Forester of the University of Arkansas, conducted an appreciation of timber demonstration to give the 4-H boys an interesting and valuable feature. The use of forestry mounting cards by the youth in their study was shown. Each boy was urged to complete forestry demonstration by securing and properly mounting and labeling specimen leaves.

Two trees of the same age, one growing beneath other trees and the other properly spaced, were cut by Director Cecil Bittle of the Experiment Station to show the 4-H Club boys the benefit of proper spacing on increased growth. Mr. Bittle showed the dollar value of the 13 year management of the station timber.

Travis England, a 4-H Club youth leader, assisted County Agent Oliver L. Adams in direction of the activities including cook-out breakfast. Bill Tolence of Tolence Company assisted Mr. Bittle in providing transportation from Hope to the station. Bill Tucker, a student at the station, was also present.

Woman Stops Breathing But Heart Beats

Nashville, June 5 (AP)—A Columbus, Ark., housewife, whose heart continued beating 14 hours and 15 minutes after she stopped breathing, died at a hospital here today.

Her physician, Dr. Edwin Dildy said, "It was the strangest case I have ever heard of."

The entire Howard County Memorial Hospital staff — including five doctors and all available nurses — "latched on" to the case when they learned that Mrs. Clara Hamilton, 45, was alive but not breathing.

The race to save the woman's life received a setback when the hospital's oxygen supply was exhausted.

Dr. H. H. Holt then improvised a resuscitator from spare parts, including an automobile carburetor and a tire pump tube.

Dildy said the woman was brought to the hospital at 8:30 a.m. yesterday, unconscious and hemorrhaging from a brain tumor.

She ceased breathing nearly five hours later but her heart continued to beat until she died at 12:15 a.m. today.

Fulbright's Labor Law Changed

Washington, June 3 (AP) — The Fulbright labor law, which was passed by Congress last year, has been changed by the House of Representatives today.

The changes were made by voice vote. Organized labor had opposed the Fulbright proposal, charging it would halve the number of workers covered by the act.

The act empowers the Secretary of Labor to set minimum wages and working conditions in plants turning out goods for the government. It says that an affected industry must pay at least the minimum wage prevailing in its area.

The adopted compromise requires that the Labor Department keep a stenographic record of hearings on all Walsh-Healey wage cases, to provide the basis for appeal to the courts by either management or labor.

The compromise would allow a court challenge of any move made by Secretary of Labor Tobin to

Gen. Grow to Stand Court Martial

Washington, June 3 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, whose diary was stolen by Russian agents while he was visiting in Germany, will be tried by court martial, the Army announced today.

Grow was a military attaché at the American Embassy at Moscow.

The announcement said the Army had completed the investigation of the charges against Grow and that trial by court martial is warranted.

The Russians made propaganda use of the diary, publishing excerpts in which Grow was depicted as advocating war now against Russia.

The trial will be held at Ft. Meade, Md., with the sessions closed to the public. The date for the trial was not announced.

On April 28, the Army announced that it was investigating charges against Grow which included:

1. Improperly reporting classified military information in private records.
2. Failing properly to safeguard classified military information.

In March of 1951 Grow was in Frankfurt, Germany, for a medical checkup. The Army has said that

Prices Lower on Many Food Items

By The Associated Press

Retail prices for chicken, beef rib roasts, chuck pot roasts and stewing beef were a little lower in many stores this week.

Less of lamb advanced irregularly but the upturn generally did not affect other lamb cuts. Most pork and veal items were unchanged. Large eggs rose two to six cents a dozen in scattered sections where production began to taper off seasonally, but this upturn was not yet widespread.

Several fresh fruit and vegetable items were offered in a wide range of quality, condition and price, affected by erratic weather in growing areas. Tomatoes, lettuce, corn, asparagus, strawberries and mushrooms were in this category. Lower in most places were artichokes, snap beans, beets, carrots, cauliflower, parsley, cherries and grapefruit.

Peas and cantaloupes were becoming more plentiful. The season's first shipments of plums from Texas and apricots from California reached distant markets.

Potatoes were still hard to find but volume shipments from the Carolinas were reported beginning and small supplies from California and a few other sections trick-men backing the fight for the Republican nomination came to Abilene with him.

Republicans and Democrats alike were quick to comment on Eisenhower's remarks.

"It looks like he is pretty much for mother, home and heaven," said B. Carroll Hance, Tennessee congressman, who is one of the leaders of the Taft forces.

Rep. Hugh Scott Jr., of Pennsylvania, an Eisenhower backer, called the address "a fighting, middle of the road speech that is evidence the people will not have to guess where he stands."

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said he was glad Eisenhower favors a reduction of expenditures.

"Of course, he must be aware that our chief expenditures are for military outlay and foreign aid. I had not realized he was advocating economy on those items," Douglas said.

Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, remarked: "The general ought to be just the man in the best position to be specific about the shortcomings of the Democratic party. . . . One of them kept in high position while we were in power was Gen. Eisenhower himself."

Between 5,000 and 6,000 people braved a rainstorm at Eisenhower Park to hear the speech. The skies were grey and overcast all day. Shortly after the general finished a 25-minute-long talk, extemporaneous, on the site of the proposed Eisenhower museum, raindrops began to fall.

The rain held off until after he had finished, but the storm drenched the participants in the parade that followed.

It was raining hard at the moment when the major speech was scheduled to begin. But the clouds broke, and after a short delay, Eisenhower began to speak.

He then returned to his hotel. After a short rest, he visited the homes of two Abilene friends, and stood for hours at the head of a receiving line, shaking hands and renewing old acquaintances.

Most of the people who thronged into the two homes to see him were Republican delegates, alternates and their wives. A spectator remarked, "he's making friends by the minute here."

Eisenhower planned to see the political figures today. His organization leaders said a number of uncommitted Republican delegates from Missouri and Oklahoma would be present. The idea was, as they explained, for Eisenhower to set forth his views on political questions in private talks.

He planned to return to New York Friday.

night Townsend was the only vet on hand. Gen. John Salling, 100, of Slant, Va., at the last moment found he was too feeble to come. The others were bedridden.

Tears welled in Townsend's eyes when Bush, greeting him for probably their last reunion, said, "How have you been, old buddy?"

"Fine," Townsend replied. "I'm sure glad to see you, old brother. We've sure been through some rough days together."

"Why didn't you meet at the airport, you old rascal?"

"Well, I have to get around in a wheel chair," said Townsend.

"Don't have any use for those seated in a wheel chair identical to Townsend's."

Townsend had just finished a fried chicken dinner and invited Bush to have some but Bush's wife wheeled him off to bed instead.

"Shucks," Bush grumbled, "I never have any fun."

From this arrangement trailed green ivy with miniature spades, hoes, rakes, gardening gloves, and packages of seed down the length of the table. Arrangements of spring flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the club rooms.

Following the luncheon a business meeting was held by Mrs. B. L. Rettig, Federation President, Mrs. H. E. Luck, acting secretary, read the minutes of the May meeting. She also read a letter of appreciation from the Hope School Board for the landscaping of the

DOROTHY DIX

It's Best To Wait

Dear Miss Dix: For the past ten years I've known a boy, Dick, whom I have come to like very much. In fact, I could say I love him! It's not a thrilling love; he doesn't make me feel as if I were walking on clouds. It's a contented love. Just being with him or holding his hand is enough. He's so thoughtful and considerate. When he goes away I cry my eyes out, lose my appetite and can't sleep.

Now he's in the service and will be for the next eighteen months. He doesn't want to let me down until after he comes out. He has buddies who've received "Dear John" letters and he doesn't want it to happen to him. Of course it wouldn't! I really care for him and don't in the least mind waiting. Since my feelings for him haven't changed in ten years, I doubt if they will now. He won't commit himself to an engagement while he's in the service, and I am perfectly willing to be either engaged or married to him now. How can I convince him of that?

ROSEMARY B. Answer: You are apparently so unconvincing, even to yourself, that I doubt if you can make Dick commit himself to anything on the basis of your feelings. You say you are not thrillingly in love, then proceed to describe your emotions in terms of ecstatic endearment. The crying for days, losing sleep, not eating routine certainly indicates an emotional upheaval that belies your description of a merely contented feeling.

Are You Vacillating? Are you that vacillating with Dick? Perhaps you gave him a wrong picture of your feelings, in which case he can scarcely be blamed for not wanting to commit himself to a permanent arrangement.

He sounds like a very sensible young man, and for the time being, at least, you'll do well to accept his decision.

You are apparently quite young, so I gather the ten-year period of friendship goes back to childhood. Are you sure you aren't just taking him for granted, and trying to attribute permanence to a relationship that is actually no more than a deep friendship? You say nothing of his feelings for you. Have you reason to believe that he loves you, or is he, too, clinging to a strong companionship disguising itself as love?

Dick's absence will be a good opportunity for you both to evaluate your emotions and learn just how deep they are. If it's true love with both of you, and eighteen-months wait won't hurt. If the attachment is less strong, time will clarify the situation, giving you both better understanding and judgment.

Dear Miss Dix: For the past 6 months I've worked in an office with a married woman about 55. From the beginning she seems to have had something against me. I made the mistake of answering her personal questions, so she has learned more about my private life than was wise. There is nothing in my home life that isn't above reproach, but she says I was too strictly brought up and am too righteous. She has told false tales against me but since I have a clear conscience, I ignore them. This is a very nice place to work and I don't like to give up a good job because of a troublemaker. Other girls here have had similar experiences with her but she seems to pick on me more than anyone else. Do you think I should leave?

ETHEL R. Answer: I agree that there's no reason why you should let a troublemaker turn you out of a good job. Perhaps understanding her motives may enable you to put up with the situation and fight it through. Occasionally an older woman becomes embittered at the thought of her own lost, and probably wasted youth, and resents anyone who is young. If the supposed interloper is also attractive, well balanced and happy, the older woman's resentment grows and grows until it chokes any semblance of stability she has left. She is actually much more to be pitied than blamed, but it is certainly difficult to be sorry for someone who is carrying on such a battle of persecution against you. If you have the courage and grit to see the problem through, go to it. If you continue to ignore the falsehoods, the sly remarks, the petty annoyances, they will stop with time.

You might make some headway of discussing the matter with the head of your personnel department or some other person in authority. But this is a drastic unrewarding procedure that is not recommended unless the situation becomes completely intolerable.

Eisenhower as Many Expected

JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his first political move, is expected to be elected president of the United States in the November election. He is expected to win the election by a landslide, according to many political observers. Eisenhower's victory is seen as a triumph for the Republican Party, which has been in opposition for several years. His campaign has been marked by a series of successful speeches and a strong record in the military. Many believe that his election will bring about a period of peace and stability for the United States.

PRESCOTT NEWS

Thursday, June 5
The choir of the Presbyterian Church will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 for rehearsal.
The Prescott Kiwanis Club meets each Thursday evening at 8:15 for a dinner meeting.
WMU Meets
The WMU of the First Baptist Church met on Monday afternoon at the church for a combined business and royal service meeting with sixteen members and five visitors present.
The opening song was "We've come out with all guns blazing, making an energetic campaign until the November election."
One thing is certain in politics: the less specific a candidate is the smaller target he provides for the opposition and the fewer enemies he makes.
Eisenhower divided his talk into "four threats which seem to be dangerous lapses from the American way."
1. Inflation and deflation. He thinks a government should prevent both.
2. Excessive taxation. He acknowledged that under present world conditions a "staggering federal expenditure is inescapable" but thinks waste and extravagance should be eliminated.
3. Bureaucracy. He promised economy in the government itself and warned against too much government interference in local affairs.
4. Disunity. He was particularly vague in this field, saying, among other things, that "we must, as a people, hold fast to our faith and ideals, which are fundamental to the free system."
Nobody Democrat or Republican can get mad at him for these four themes.

Shareholders in Big Plants Increasing

By SAM DAWSON

New York, June 5 (AP)—The big fellow in the manufacturing field keeps growing right along. But his makeup has been changing even faster than his size.
The largest manufacturing companies are likely to have more shareholders nowadays than employees. The days of the big individual shareholdings are numbered.
They are likely to pay almost as much in taxes as they do in wages and salaries—and four times as much in taxes as in dividends. And they have anywhere from $7,000 to $50,000 in assets for each employee.
The 100 largest manufacturing corporations—that excludes railroads, communications, banks, insurance companies, retail and service companies—are listed by the National City Bank of New York on the basis of total 1951 assets after deducting reserves for depreciation.
They range from Jersey Standard Oil with almost five billion dollars in assets to Crane Company with 172 million dollars. They are the top among 100,000 manufacturing corporations and 200,000 manufacturing plants owned by individuals and partnerships in the United States.
These 100 employ 4,200,000 persons and have 5,400,000 shareholders. But it must be remembered that many of the shareholders may be duplications—one man may own stock in several of the 100 corporations.

The average investment per employee is $14,000—ranging from $7,000 in the auto industry to $50,000 in tobacco companies.
The 100 pay 17 1/2 billion in wages, salaries and such labor benefits as pensions, insurance and paid vacations. This averages $4,100 a year per employee.
The bank also looks into the balance sheets of these top 100. Their total assets top 60 billion dollars—25 billion for land, plant and equipment and 35 billion for cash, securities, inventories and receivables.
Their sales and other receipts last year totaled more than 78 billion dollars. Costs up 93.1 per cent of that, leaving less than 5 1/2 billion as net income after taxes, or 6.9 per cent of sales.

This income was divided up almost evenly between dividends and reinvestments in the business.
But federal income and excess profits taxes totaled almost seven billion dollars, and other federal, state, local and foreign taxes added more than four billion dollars for a total of around 11 billion.
The bank philosophizes on what these balance sheets of the big fellows show, as follows:
"The figures show how there is no inherent conflict, but instead a close partnership relation between the interests of employees and

British Also Protest Action Rhee

Seoul, Korea, June 4 (AP)—British representatives joined the United States in protesting to President Syng Rhee over recent political developments in this temporary South Korean capital.

Admiral, chargé d'affaires, outlined the British position and then handed the aging written statement. He told Rhee that the statement was a reflection of the U. S. Department given Rhee in 1948.

The American Embassy also received a note from President Rhee which called recent political developments in Pusan shocking. Sources said the British and U. S. notes expressed the views of the South Korean government as the United Nations Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea, which recently asked Rhee to lift martial law in Pusan and release 12 opposition members under arrest.

U. N. representatives voiced opinion Rhee was attempting to control the presidential election by the Assembly into this month and his opponents.

Rhee softened his policy today, apparently as a result of the demonstrated protests from the United States and Britain.

The government public information office announcement said Rhee had not dissolved the National Assembly as he was reported to be on the verge of doing so. The law authorities were ordered not to arrest any more assemblymen not directly involved in what Rhee has called a "Communist plot" against his administration.

Here's Holsum flavor so good with other foods.

MINIATURE MOTORINO—Alfred Holsig, 26, believes he's built the smallest gasoline-powered car in Berlin, Germany. Seen working on the half-pint sized vehicle, Holsig says that it will do 35 miles an hour, and travel 70 miles on one gallon of gas. The two-passenger midsize car is 26 inches high, and weighs 420 pounds.

THUG-PROOF TAXI—Pierre Aldiere, 61, demonstrates how he'll defend his cab against any attack by Parisian hoodlums. Pierre, an old hand at taxi piloting, carries a brass club, and a syringe filled with anesthetic powder, with which to repel a prowler. The cab is equipped with a bullet-proof passenger compartment, and Pierre has a siren attached to the roof to attract police, if needed. As a final touch, the gadget-minded chauffeur can fill the passenger space with tear gas to discourage any unruly fare.

Mr. Truman's note to Rhee was not made public. But a government source said it asked Rhee to take no "irrevocable action" until U. S. Ambassador John G. Muccio could return here from a shortened vacation with additional views of Mr. Truman.

The informant said the action referred to apparently meant dissolution of the Assembly.

The Assembly went out of business yesterday when 82 pro-Rhee members announced they no longer would work with lawmakers they labeled "corrupt."

Rhee and a majority of the assemblymen have long been at odds.

Police Turn Out to Guard Cash Transfer

New York, June 4 (AP)—Hundreds of city policemen were ordered out on the streets today to guard millions of dollars in cash deliveries normally handled by four strike-bound armored car firms.

Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan last night ordered that "concentrated protection" be provided by extra patrols in the business districts.

About 600 drivers and guards, members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, struck suddenly for wage increases yesterday, catching the four guard firms with much of their clients' funds. An official of the Wells Fargo Armored Service Corporation said the money was safe but could not be transported with the strike on.

Business houses indicated they did not wish to let cash accumulate until the dispute is settled. Others were in need of payroll cash.

Consequently, Monaghan said, other means of conveying funds through the streets would be found. Striking guards are seeking $1.00 an hour and the drivers are asking $2.15 an hour. Present rates are $1.42 and $1.70. A union spokesman said the companies had offered a general 15-14 cent an hour wage boost.

The firms involved, in addition to Wells Fargo, are Brink's Inc., United States Trucking Corporation and Cross Armored Carrier Corporation.

Says Christianity Not Perfect Either

Salina, Kas., June 4 (AP)—Dr. Matt L. Ellis, president of Hendrix College in Conway, Ark., says both democracy and Christianity are far from perfect.

"It is a challenge to us all to make them more perfect," he told the graduating class at Kansas Wesleyan University here yesterday.

Dr. Ellis said the "strongest power in the world today is dreams," and cited democracy as the conception of dreamer-thinkers.

Early Approval of Slashed Aid Bill Predicted

Washington, June 4 (AP)—Congressional leaders today called for early approval of a foreign aid authorization bill totaling about 1.12 billion dollars below the $7,000,000,000 President Truman asked.

The $6,447,730,750 compromise omnibus measure was agreed upon late yesterday by a Senate-House conference committee which adjusted all differences in a single day.

Actual appropriation of the money will be covered in a separate appropriation bill, and in past years this has meant further reductions. The House Appropriations Committee has started hearings on this measure.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who helped engineer the compromise, hoped to get Senate approval Thursday. The House plans to act after the Senate.

Connally had won Senate passage of a $6,700,000,000 measure, some 230 millions above the new total. But the compromise was about $230 million more than the House had approved and the House plan for applying most of the cuts was junked.

The conferees worked over the big bill item by item to split the differences.

They retained a Senate provision that would allow administrators to shift up to 10 per cent of any earmarked funds.

The total authorization now is about half a billion dollars less than half a billion dollars less than minimum urged by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower before he quit his European command to return here as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The compromise restored about $350 millions for European military and defense support aid that the House cut out.

The agreement also makes offsetting reductions in a number of aid items for other global areas that the House approved intact but the Senate reduced.

The compromise carries $4,698,047,750 for Europe; $741,430,500 for Asia and the Near East; $488,220,000 for the Far East and Pacific areas; $79,014,750 for Latin America; $9,241,500 for moving European populations to less crowded areas; $2,587,500 to pay costs of transporting aid to Europe; $15,708,750 for assistance to underdeveloped areas, and $16,481,000 for the United Nations International Children's Fund.

Stricken from the bill were a number of House and Senate provisions on operation of the foreign aid programs.

The House had directed that a billion dollars be spent for arms manufactured in Europe but this was knocked out when officials said it would not be possible to spend that much during the next fiscal year starting July 1.

A House directive to cut Mutual Security Administration personnel 10 per cent was softened to 5 per cent.

A provision by Sen. Kern (R-Mo.) calling for an end to foreign aid for any nation knowingly sending military supplies behind the Iron Curtain was dropped.

Rain Cuts own Aerial Warfare

Seoul, June 4 (AP)—Allied fighter-bombers attacked North Korean targets in force today. Rains Tuesday had cut down air assaults to only a few sorties.

Seven B-29s bombed Communist front-line positions in early morning darkness after heavy clouds obscured targets farther north. Other B29s reported 29 supply vehicles destroyed in the night.

The rains muddled the 155-mile ground front.

Allied tanks southwest of the Munsan true camp caught about 75 Chinese in the open Tuesday afternoon and reported killing or wounding about 30.

Patrol skirmishing and probing continued Tuesday night and Wednesday morning in the Yonchon area, also on the Western Front.

Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations commander, and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army chief, left the battlefield this morning after finishing a tour started yesterday.

Workers Restrained From Picketing

El Dorado, June 4 (AP)—Union County Chancellor W. A. Speer today issued a temporary anti-picketing injunction against striking CIO oil workers at the Lion Oil company's chemical plant here.

The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday ruled that the oilworkers wrongfully picketed the chemical plant and ordered Speer to issue the temporary injunction against picketing. Speer previously had denied a company request for the injunction and Lion appealed to the Supreme Court.

The injunction today also bars the striking employees from picketing Missouri-Pacific Lines' spur tracks into the plant.

The order does not affect some 350 AFL International Association of Machinists, who also are striking for higher wages.

Union officials were not available immediately for comment on today's Chancery Court order.

A 4-hour meeting between Oil Workers International Union and company officials yesterday failed to settle the dispute.

THEY'LL OPEN DEMS' CONVENTION—The Democratic Executive Committee has chosen Massachusetts Gov. Paul A. Dever, left, to deliver the keynote address at the opening of the party's national nominating convention, to be held in Chicago beginning July 21. Rep. Sam Rayburn, of Texas, speaker of the House, right, will be permanent chairman of the convention, the same role he filled in 1948.

McMath Says Republican Is No. 1 Opponent

Little Rock, June 4 (AP)—Gov. McMath said today his "most formidable opponent" for reelection this year is Republican nominee Jeff Speck.

The governor made the statement while answering questions after an address to the 12th annual Boys State at nearby Camp Robinson.

One question as to whether McMath planned to run for the U. S. Senate against Sen. McClellan in 1954 brought a laugh but no answer from the governor.

Another boy asked McMath if he planned to fix the road between Marked Tree and Parkin. The governor asked "what's the number of that road?" Came the reply: "I don't know, governor, but it's in an awful shape."

Atty. Gen. Ike Murry, also a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, speaks to the encampment tomorrow.

Education takes 7.7 per cent of British government revenue.

Malvern Lead Group Joins Steel Union

Malvern, June 4 (AP)—Workers at the National Lead Company here voted to accept the CIO United Steelworkers as their bargaining agent in a National Labor Relations Board election.

Union Representative Allan Bryant made the announcement. He said the employees chose the CIO Steelworkers over the AFL Chemical Workers Union 93 to 67.

A total of 104 employees were eligible to vote in the May 29 election, he said.

Taxpayers Get Off Light for a Change

Washington, June 4 (AP)—All it cost you taxpayers to operate the steel mills while they were under government seizure was the price of a series of telegrams and phone calls.

Officials said today no cost estimates have been made yet for the eight weeks of government operation, but said they only added cash outlays will be for two rounds of notices to 72 steel companies—one notifying them of the seizure and the other calling it off.

Humane Policy Is Urged for State Prisons

Washington, June 4 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Prisons today renewed its oft-voiced plea for more humane treatment and helping-hand policies in state penal institutions.

The bureau avoided any direct reference to the series of violent outbreaks in state prisons earlier this year. But its annual report said the past year had been marked by "depressing disclosures of riots, cruelties and the persisting backwardness still characteristic of some segments of the American penal system."

"Challenging and constructive work for prisoners is essential to prisoner rehabilitation," the bureau declared—as it has in many previous reports.

The federal institutions, relatively free of major disturbances in recent times, are continuing to emphasize a philosophy of treatment rather than of punishment alone in the handling of its prison population the report said.

"In too many institutions," the bureau said, "thousands of men are herded together in stultifying idleness. Of others, we hear grim tales of prisoners who cut their long tendons or practice some other form of self-mutilation to avoid long hours at grueling tasks."

"And perhaps most disturbing of all has been the continued use of the lash and other brutalizing corporal punishments in a few institutions."

phazise a philosophy of treatment rather than of punishment alone in the handling of its prison population the report said.

Reservists to Resume Training

Washington, June 4 (AP)—The Air Force said today it will resume flight training for reservists on a limited scale at 22 locations this summer.

The Air Force formerly had 25 reserve training centers at 23 locations but suspended them during the current fiscal year, ending June 30, because of shortage of aircraft for training purposes.

Picture of a Pair who just waked up

HERE in the driveway is a Buick. It has just arrived. It belongs to this proud young couple. They've just "arrived" too.

They've arrived at a discovery—the discovery that owning a Buick instead of a "low-priced car" isn't so much a matter of money.

It's a matter of knowing the facts of life. Buick prices are closer to the prices of smaller, less powerful, less distinguished cars than most people think.

Why don't you check into this?

You'll find you could pay $300 to $400 more—and still not match the horsepower of this nimble beauty.

You could pay hundreds of dollars more—and still not get any more interior room, or richer fabrics.

But that's only part of the story.

The big thing about any car is the way it goes.

So you ought to find out how this car rides the road—the freedom from bobble and sway that cost a million real dollars to develop.

You ought to sample the way Dynaflo Drive* feeds the power—with a steady swoop and unbroken smoothness in city traffic, on hills, or out on the open road.

And you ought to know how it feels to touch off that Fireball 8 Engine. With all its might, this high-compression valve-in-head gets a lot of miles from a gallon of gas.

We'll tell you this—because a lot of folks have told us this: No matter what car you're driving now—no matter what cars you've looked at—they'll never seem the same after you try this one.

Just give us a chance to prove it—and you'll have a lot of fun.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.
